A Pretty Wedding.

A very pretty early morning wedding was solemnized at the Pro-cathedral this morning at 5:30 o'clock, the contracting parties being George M. Kenedy, son of Mrs. C. B. Kenedy, of Laredo, and Miss Sofia Rivadulla, a very popular and well known young lady of Brownsville, daughter of of Mrs. Frank Rivadulla.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Piteye, in the presence of relatives and only a few friends. The bride was given away by her grandfather, Mr. Simon Celaya, and looked lovely in her beautiful bridal dress of white brocaded silk, trimmed in chiffon, while the groom appeared very manly in the conventional black. The wedding march was exquisitely rendered by Miss May Scanlan.

Mrs. Aug. Celaya was matron of honor, and Mr. Aug. Celaya performed the pleasing service of best man.

The bride is a native of Brownsville, well known and much admired by a large circle of friends, and Mr. Kenedy is to be congratulated on securing such a rare treasure as a sharer of the joys and sorrows of life.

The groom is also well and favorably known as a young man of upright character and many friends and will cherish with fondness the fair young girl who has so trustfully placed her future in his keeping.

Immediately after the ceremony a magnificent wedding breakfast was tendered the newly married pair at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. Celaya, where congratulations were tendered that their journey over the sea of life might be as pleasant as the beautiful morning which saw the fruition of their fondest hopes. THE HERALD desires to add its most sincere congratulations that the young couple may forever bless the day which marked their union, and that their life together may be an uninterrupted season of rejoicing.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenedy left on the morning train for a bridal tour which will be extended over many days, and include many localities. Quite a number of friends were at the depot to see the happy couple start forth upon their journey through life together.

A Freshman's First Letter Home.

Strickland W. Gillilan, president of the Association of American Humorists, contributes a clever short story to "Success Magazine" for September, entitled "A Fresno Freshman." The following letter of the freshman, written a few days after his arrival at college is taken from it:

"Dear Mom: I'd like to tell you everything's pleasant here, but I guess it's better for me to tell the truth—I'd feel better if I do. The cruel, hard life we've lived all these years, skipping on everything and crowding the entire income from cherry trees, vineyards and cows into my head, to the utter neglect of everything outside of it, has fitted me for college in a way. My studies are easy. But, mother, it's downright crucifixion to be so glaringly unkempt and ungainly. I know just how I look. I'm different from other people. The things that seem to come natural to them, in the way of neatness and dressiness, look to me as if I could not, in a whole lifetime, cultivate; and the clothes they seem to be used to seem out of reach of the best I have ever even hoped to own—at least until I'm too old or too set in my ways to learn how to put them on and feel at home in them. Why did the fates so persistently kept me from all these things, refuse me the kindness of making me callous to the blows one's self-consciousness must suffer by reason of such shortcomings? But I'm going to stay, because you've worked like the mischief ever since we were left alone in the world, to give me the sort of education you hungered for in your girlhood. I'm going to see if brains will count against clothes. I'm sorry I'm not there to take all the heavy work off your hands. My muscles fairly ache to be doing something difficult. Don't let Pedro shirk on you. If he does, I'll break every bone in his body when I come home. If I could only have left my strength at home for you! I seem not to need it here. Maybe I'll get used to this sort of life, and maybe I won't. Lovingly, Ex."

A Presidential Ticket.

Wanamaker presidential ticket for 1908.—For president, Dr. Booker T. Washington. For vice President, John Wanamaker. Platform: "Give the white trash a show." Campaign song: "Hallelujah! Hallelujah! Buy Wanamaker's $3 pants."—Dallas Beaumonde.

Incarnate Word Academy.

The 53rd year of this well known institution opens on Monday, September 4.

Studies can be pursued in English and Spanish. The Academy is empowered to confer academic and honorary degrees and diplomas, and embodies within itself three courses: primary, preparatory and academic.

This academy, although a Catholic institute, welcomes to a participation in its privileges pupils of every denomination, and anything like an attempt to force the religious convictions of non-Catholics is scrupulously avoided.

All—Catholic and non-Catholic—are taught to appreciate religious principles and moral worth, and we sincerely hope that they will show their appreciation of said institute by sending their children thereto.

By the fact that the Incarnate Word places a paying and free school, both under the direction of the Sisters, at the disposition of parents, it is evident that there is no excuse for those who neglect to give their children a true religious education.

Optional studies are extra and are as follows: French, Spanish, vocal and instrumental music, (taught according to modern system) drawing, painting, in water and oil colors, flowers, artistic needle work, stenography, type-writing and kindergarten.

Plain sewing, white embroidery, canvas work and crochet are taught gratuitously to pupils attending Convent school. For particulars apply to MOTHER SUPERIOR, 8-29-31

Cheerfulness During Illness.

There is a great restorative force in cheerfulness. It is a sovereign remedy. The physician who can inspire expectancy of something better to come, who can give you confidence in your power to overcome disease and can make you feel that it is a shame for a man made to do a great work in the world to be ailing, has very little use for drugs.

Sick people do not realize how much their faith and confidence in the physician have to do with their cure. If he is cheerful, happy, hopeful they feel buoyed up, sustained by his very presence. They feel thrill of his splendid vitality, and gather strength from his courage.
